

Here We Go Again

You've just come home from ridin the range when you hear someone yelling for you outside. You open the door to find some desperado's looking to shoot you down. Unfortunately, you don't have yer rifle, it's over in the barn and no time to get it. Your shotgun is just outside the door, so as they draw you grab it and start shooting.

2 pistols loaded with five rounds each, hammer on an empty chamber, with 2 reloads (one for each gun) done on the clock at any time after firing the first shot with each gun.
Shotgun staged on a haybale on the other side of the door, 4 rounds to be loaded from your person.

Shooter starts by saying "Here we go again!" Shooter opens the door and retrieves shotgun, sweeping the 2 targets left to right twice. Shooter replaces shotgun on haybale and draws the first pistol, shooting the right target 5 times, then the left target once. Shooter holsters and draws second pistol shooting the left target 5 times and the right target once. Note: Reloads with each revolver any time after the first shot with that revolver.
